H. M. Barton of Boston arrived in town Saturday evening. His marriage to Miss Maude Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Ayers, occurs Wednesday evening.

As long as Frank Tracy and John L. Tuttle are not candidates for re-election as constables, the friends of Charles A. Smith, a former Montpelier deputy, are urging his candidacy.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will hold a sociable in the church parlors, Tuesday evening, Feb. 14. A short programme has been arranged after which refreshments will be served.

In four weeks' time the Montpelier Camp of Modern Woodmen has taken in 42 members and more are to be initiated soon. This is largely due to the hustling of a district organizer, P. Mayhew Libby.

Avvertiamo la colonia che in settimana la vecchia compagnia filo-drammatica, metterà fuori i manifesti, come pure Petichette, per la grande serata del 25 e. m. a. pro-rivoluzionari Russi. La Vecchia Filodrammatica.

Mrs. Frank Bradbury and Mrs. Winfield Patch have returned from Northfield, having gone there to attend the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. Anna Farr Dyer, which was held Sunday afternoon at the home of her father, R. H. Farr.

Joseph B. Reinhalter and D. M. Miles, doing business under the name of the Reinhalter Granite Company, have dissolved partnership, and Mr. Miles becomes sole owner of all assets, accounts, demands and property belonging to the debts and pay all bills.

R. P. White has an interesting curiosity in the shape of a reproduction of the first newspaper ever printed in America, "The Boston News Letter," which was published in Boston Monday, April 24, 1704. The contents of the News Letter are chiefly extracts from London papers.

William T. Dewey has completed his work of copying the births of Montpelier from the settlement of the town and finds they total in round numbers 4,200. They date back to 1791. Mr. Dewey is doing this work just for the love of the thing, and is compiling information that will be very valuable.

Barre Local Union, No. 451, Carpenters and Joiners of America, will observe the fifth anniversary of the union at Hale's pavilion on Friday evening, February 17. Members remember to bring a basket with lunch enough to supply the friends you bring. Fruit and coffee will be furnished by the Lodge, C. & J. of A. Committee.

H. G. Woodruff, first vice-president of the Vermont Y. P. S. C. E., will give an address on "Our Unions and Evangelism" at the conference of the officers of local and district C. E. unions to be held at the College street church, Burlington, the last two days of February. The founder of the C. E. movement, Dr. Clark, is expected to be present, also the general secretary, Von Ogden Vogt. The conference opens Monday afternoon, February 27.

There was a rehearsal of the full-cast in a "Hero in Khaki" at the opera house Saturday evening. Everything is progressing very favorably. By actual count there will be over 300 persons in the production. There will be a full rehearsal at the opera house this evening at 7 o'clock for everybody excepting children and the Khaki guards. Miss Alice Beck, the dancing teacher from Boston, will be present. Captain Eddy and Victor DeLacey, the instructor, are more than pleased with the progress being made.

Thesen's play "Ghosts" was presented to a small audience at the opera house Saturday evening by a cast of five people, all of whom took their parts well, but the play did not find a ready response with the audience. The play is based on the "sins of the fathers" being visited upon his children. The ending of the play was too abrupt for a Barre audience, and as there was no printed programme to guide them, the audience sat still for a minute or two after the curtain was rung down for the last time. Then they began to twist around in their seats to see what their neighbors were going to do, each one wearing an I-don't-want-to-appear-green sort of an expression. Finally someone made a move to leave and the others took the hint and began to follow like a flock of sheep.
